An amazing breakfast
on the first morning of Passover
Lilienfeld House, 8:30 AM

Some like it savory, some like it sweet.
Some love small pieces, some want it like an omelet.
Some are eager and energetic, others bleary-eyed from Seder the night before.
Some think of it tradition -- only right if it is just the way grandmother made it.
Others explore and experiment, creative and cross cultural.
(Mexican Matza Brei – cilantro and cumin, garlic and ginger and green salsa on the side).

However you like it,
